Card from Hon. R. P. Hocker.

BEAVER DAM, Oct. 29th, 1881.

Editor Herald :

IN THE HERALD of the 19th inst. I see a card signed W. C. C., in which it is stated that considerable complaint had been made against me, as a member of the last Legislature, by some of the citizens "about town" in reference to my course on the School question, stating further that they had charged me with having pocketed a bill which had been paid by my hands backed by a large number of taxpayers. W. C. C. further asks that I explain to the press, my action in the matter, that I may make reparation for any injustice that may have been done me.

I am very much obliged to W. C. C. for his willingness to have justice accorded to me, and wld. say that I have ever been ready and willing to explain, either publicly or privately, my action in any legislation that came before me.

I had no explanation of such a charge. I had not received such a charge nor had I supposed that I was responsible for the Hartford School legislation. Permit me to say in reference to the bill that was passed early in the session, empowering the Trustees to levy a tax to maintain the "Graded School at Hartford," that I did go before the committee to which it was referred and asked them to give it their immediate attention and make an early report, and when it was reported I asked the House to pass it. I was not aware that there was a word of objection or a single opposer in the town of Hartford, but supposed that the matter had been agreed upon, and then sent to the Legislature for ratification. I did this because I knew of the danger of delay and the frequency of failure to get business through in the closing and more crowded hours of the session. As the one of them through the House. I introduced and supported such measures of a general character as I thought would subserve the interests of the State.

This I have written merely as a response to the request of a citizen of my county, I conclude by saying that my work stands as a part of the history of the State, and by it I am willing to be judged by a generous people.

Respectfully,

R. P. HOCKER.

A Timely Warning, or the Experience of a Minister.

If you suffer from a general debility, brought on by too close application to business and excessive fatigue, such from increasing prostration and sinking spells, that even a rest or removal of the cause will not relieve, make haste to do as a revered friend of ours. He secured from his druggist a bottle of Brown's Iron Bitters, having heard of its merit from a physician, who told him not to take any other Bitters or Tonic, for with the exception of Brown's Iron Bitters, they all contained alcohol, and had failed to give his patients lasting rent; nor should he take any other preparation of Iron Bitters with the exception of Brown's Iron Bitters, they all blackened the teeth, and often gave headache, which Brown's Iron Bitters never did, in fact, it gave no headache.

The effect was most satisfactory: he immediately realized wonderful results.

His old energy returned, his natural force came back, and he was able to undertake a new man, full of health, strength and vigor, and he has continued to remain so ever since. Now he recommends Brown's Iron Bitters to his friends, and is persistently doing so to all our readers. —Globe.

Editor Herald:
Business is generally good.
Crops are far better than the farmers anticipated, although they are not good. The wheat crop is about all sowed.

Playing checkers and fox and geese seems to be the order of the day.

Mr. J. L. Stinnett and Willie May are driving a big trade in the dry goods business. Mr. May says the next time he wants to go home with his girl he intends to watch where her horse is hitched so he will not have to ask the old gentleman about it. He says he doesn't like that kind of country produce.

Will is a good one.

The Rev. Mr. West will commence a protracted meeting at this place the coming Saturday night.

Mr. Wm. Corley will bring his new saw mill near this place soon.

I will write again if it don't rain or snow. Success to the Herald and its editor is the wish of the writer.

CICERO T. SUTTON, ASSOCIATE EDITOR.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 9, 1881

WHEN a sailor hears of a marriage, it is said that his first exclamation is "Look out for squalls."

OWENSBORO has a National bank. An issue of $45,000 in notes will be made within the next thirty days. The authorized capital stock is $250,000.

THE Czar of Russia still lives in dread of his very shadow. Nihilists confront him at every turn with their engines of death, and large numbers of arrests are made daily.

QUEEN VICTORIA has reigned longer than any other sovereign of England except George III. She completed the forty-fifth year of her reign a few weeks ago. Elizabeth reigned exactly forty-five years.

A LOUISVILLE preacher preached a sermon last Sunday, entitled "Uplift Business." A great many preachers find it so.

SOME thieves went into the pasture of Press Bratcher, Esq., of Spring Lick, last Wednesday night and killed a fat ox which would have weighed 1500 pounds. Nothing was left save the head, and that had a bullet-hole in it.

FEMALE suffrage is marching on in the West. In the Legislature of Washington Territory it was defeated by a vote of 13 to 11, and its friends are confident it will win at the next session.

THE President has proclaimed Nov. 24th as a day of National Thanksgiving. The Governors of most of the States have done likewise.

HON. CHAS. D. JACOB will probably be elected Mayor of Louisville without opposition. The Courier-Journal regards this as fortunate, as the Mayor elect will be under no obligations to partisan friends. Partisan friends are the bane of official honesty in any station.

POMEROY'S Great West says that "the Greenback vote of the United States has dwindled down until in two years, at the present rate of decrease, there will not be enough of it to laugh at, or to find under a 9,000 radii lens." About what we have thought of it all along, but when we hear the greatest exponent of Greenback principles say so we know what to expect at once. The sooner the better.

We learn from the Echo that Urey Woodson has been acquitted of the charges brought against him by a negro woman of Greenville. Nobody ever believed the charges to be true, and we are truly glad that he has taken a wise course and has been vindicated by the courts. The negro woman is under arrest for perjury and will doubtless be sent to the penitentiary.

THE trial of the Star Route gang began last Thursday. Robt. Howard is the only one who is not a prisoner for ways that are hidden and subterfuges that are many. The country at large will watch the trial with interest, as it is purely an issue between honesty and corruption. James seems to be governed by Grant's "Let no guilty man escape."

ARMY worms have appeared in the region of country between Princeton, Ky., and Clarksville, Tenn., and are daily destroying whole fields of wheat. It is said that they are not of the ordinary migratory kind, but that they come up out of the ground, eat to satiety and die. This destroys their claim to the name of army worm, as that insect marches and forages in regular military style, and at the end of its career burrows into the earth. There is nothing known that will effectually destroy them when once in a field, and none of the remedies employed for the army worm proper can be applied to this pest. Our consolation is that the season is fast growing so cold that insect life cannot stand it.

A CORRESPONDENT furnishes a chapter or two from the Chronicles for this issue of the HERALD. He promises to make it, as Horace Greeley once said, "mighty interestin' readin'." and it will run through several numbers of this paper. Our readers can judge of the article for themselves. Right here we would state that the HERALD, like every other paper, disclaims responsibility for the views or expressions of correspondents or contributors. Anything not of an objectionable nature which may be furnished us will, if, in our judgment, it is sufficiently meritorious, be published, and, in all cases, our columns are open to answers from any source, such answers, of course, to be governed by the rules applied to the original contribution. We invite discussion of any and every subject of general interest, and would be glad to give space every week to well written articles on the leading local or general questions.

THE Messenger and Examiner informs us that we were mistaken, widely mistaken, when we stated that sickness prevailed to an alarming extent in Owensboro. We hope we were, and if so we are glad, for if there is anything outside of Hartford and Ohio county that we are interested in it is Owensboro and Davies county and sister towns and counties in the Green River country. Of course any report of epidemics or unusually fatal sickness of any kind is detrimental to the business and interests of a place, and if we are imposed upon we will in every instance gladly make any correction due. The Messenger and Examiner says that there is not a healthier city in the country than Owensboro, and there is no occasion for any one having any hesitancy about visiting the place on account of typhoid fever or any other disease. We are glad to know this, and hope it may never be otherwise.

HOPKINSVILLE is soon to have gas-lights. That is, they are talking about it, and talk in Hopkinsville means something.

THE fourth annual convention of the Young Men's Christian Association of Kentucky will be held in Lexington November 10, 11, 12 and 13, 1881.

THE Hopkinsville Republican offers a year's subscription for $1,000 Confederate bonds. They are worth $2.50 per $1,000, if genuine, and they are placed on the market.

MONROE missionaries are still at work in Virginia, Tennessee and Georgia. Their converts number hundreds, and are sent west as fast as they can be removed.

NOT the least amusing thing about the alleged spy paragraphs of the so-called humorists is the fact that they first appeared in the comic almanacs from a dozen to sixteen years ago.

THE Louisville Post has been reduced in price to two cents per copy. Ere long it will be hard to give the little thing away. The only thing to all appearances that is solid about it is its check.

READ the card from Hon. R. P. Hoeker in answer to that of "W. C. C." which appeared a week or two ago. Mr. Hoeker explains very fully his connection with the legislation which established Hartford College.

THERE can never be another Jacob's ladder. Since that time the heavens have gone farther off and have grown astronomical.—Herald.

ASTRONOMY has rendered the building of another Jacob's ladder—erecting in dreams—an impossibility.—Gruelle.

STRAWs is still booming on and ere long will be read by the whole South and Southwest. An office is soon to be established in Chicago, where the paper will be issued at the same time as in Louisville. Some of its jokes are a little stale, but the general reading matter is of a substantial kind.

THE alarming and increasing frequency of railroad wrecks and accidents should set people to thinking and inquiring as to the cause. Not a daily paper can be picked up but what something can be learned of a wrecked train, occasional loss of life and always damage to something or other person. Drunken brakemen, careless engineers or reckless conductors are generally the cause of accidents, and it is rarely the case that this disaster is wholly unavoidable. The officials should be more careful in the selection of employees and more watchful of them after they are put on the roads. A vast responsibility rests upon a railroad, and none but the best and most trustworthy men should be given positions in the service.

THIS section wants a cultured Christian, statesman of purity, probity and experience, and it seeks those qualities in Hon. Thos. L. Jones, of Newport.—Readers of this section are invited to inquire and observation we have been able to learn anything of the wants of this section. Thos. L. Jones would make a Governor of whom the State would be proud, and one that people would delight to honor. If he is ever elected, and we believe he will be, it will not be due to a sickly sentiment but to a recognition of his services as a Democrat, his reputation as a statesman and his merits as a man. No man in the State is more capable of making a first-class executive officer than Mr. Jones, and it will be to the credit of the people to take him up and put him in the chair of State at Frankfort at the next election.

THE foolish speculation in Confederate bonds still continues, and we hear of sales being made at from $2 to $10 per $1,000. The boom was started by the report that there was a fund of $2,000,000 in the bank of England to the credit of the Southern Confederacy, and that this was about to be reclaimed by the South and applied to the liquidation of her bonded debt. The original report was entirely false, but it gained credit and still holds it. It is foolish to any man who will think of it for a moment, for if there were two or two hundred millions of dollars to the credit of the Confederacy not a cent of it could be applied to the payment of the bonds as the money would belong to the United States and would be appropriated by them to their own use. It is to be supposed that few of the readers of the HERALD are so unfortunate as to possess any of the bonds; but if they are now is the time to dispose of them, if a buyer can be found.

A Callow Bird.

The editor of the Greenville Echo is a college bred youth and he has no opportunity of letting the world know it. In other words his key note is, "This is the HERALD." His incoherent mixture of singular and plural pronouns when applied to himself, and his profuse employment of italics displays what he learned at college, and his unexampled egotism shows that he doesn't know anything else.

As to the patent medicine advertising we will say that if the Echo wants to know the rates at which we take advertising it can learn by looking at the "advertising rates" published in the HERALD. The Echo never publishes rates, but modestly says "apply for terms," and then makes them to the applicant. We get our prices or we do not work, and advertisers well know, or soon learn, the advantage of advertising in a paper of (to use some of the Echo's italics) general circulation, and do not mind paying a good price when they can make their money back. Nobody has lately accused the Echo of having an idea and it would be a most vile falsehood if such a thing should be done. Don't speak of ideas when you can't muster words even to express those of other people.

Hon. Thomas S. Pettit.

In a communication from Owensboro, which appears in this issue, mention is made of the gentleman whose name serves as a caption to this article as a possible candidate for Congress from this district at the next election, and the writer takes occasion to speak in very high terms of Mr. Pettit, his talent, ability, experience, address, &c., to all of which we most heartily give assent. If we have men in it who would faithfully and efficiently serve the Second District, he certainly is one of them, for to natural ability of a very high order, he adds the indispensable qualities of industry, faithfulness to his constituents, devotion to principle and an exalted opinion of and regard for the right. Add to this his unswerving loyalty to the Democratic party and we have a combination of elements rarely found in one man.

As a public speaker Mr. Pettit is a success, but it is not to this that he would look to make for himself a name in Congress or a place in the hearts of those who sent him there. Instead of going to Congress and making one or two great speeches and falling back with glory enough for one session, he would be found at work at all times in the interest of his country, his State, and above all, his district. Ten thousand printed copies of a great speech would not satisfy him, and while we might and doubtless would hear from him in that line, we should likewise hear from him in a far more substantial manner. His has been a life of hard, earnest, practical work, and nothing else could be expected of him in the legislative halls of the nation.

His experience for the past several years has been of such a nature as to present him to the duties of a Congressman, he having been Clerk of the Kentucky House of Representatives and Reading Clerk of the House of Representatives of the United States for the past four years. In Congress his opportunities for acquiring knowledge likely to be useful to a Representative have been unsurpassed, in fact far better than if he had been an actual Representative, as not a bill was ever brought into Congress during his incumbency that he did not render himself perfectly familiar with.

He has been a life-long Democrat and has suffered at the hands of his enemies for his fidelity to his party, but he has never been known to waver.

Taking all these facts into consideration, we are satisfied that if Col. Pettit should be elected he will make a faithful representative.

The Monroe Doctrine.

Much has been said and written about the Monroe Doctrine since its first promulgation by the President of that name in 1823, but there is no doubt that there are many persons who are in ignorance as regards the document. For a time, and a long time, it has been allowed to rest in comparative quiet, but the Panama canal scheme, which is under European control, has vested it with a fresh interest. It is as follows:

"The citizens of the United States cherish sentiments the most friendly in favor of the liberty and happiness of their fellow-men on that side of the Atlantic. In the wars of the European powers, in matters relating to themselves we have never taken an active part; nor do we intend to do so. It is only when our rights are invaded or seriously menaced that we resent injuries or make preparations for our defense. With the movements in this hemisphere we are of necessity more immediately connected; and from causes which must be obvious to all enlightened observers, the political system of the allied powers is essentially different in this respect from that of America. This difference proceeds from that which exists in their respective Governments. And to the defense of our own, which has been achieved by the loss of so much blood and treasure, and matured by the wisdom of their most enlightened citizens, and under which we have enjoyed unexampled felicity, this whole nation is devoted. We owe it, therefore, to candor and to the amicable relations between the United States and those powers to declare that we should consider any attempt on their part to extend their system to any portion of this hemisphere as dangerous to our peace and safety. With the existing colonies or dependencies of any European power we have not interfered, and shall not interfere. But, with the Governments who have declared their independence, and whose independence we have, on great considerations and just principles, acknowledged, we could not view any interposition for the purpose of oppressing them, or controlling in any other manner their destiny, by any European power, in any light than as the manifestation of an unfriendly disposition towards the United States. In the war between those new Governments and Spain we declared our neutrality at the time of their recognition, and to this we have adhered and shall continue to adhere, provided no change shall occur which, in the judgment of the competent authorities of this Government, shall make a corresponding change on the part of the United States indispensable to their security."

It would appear, though, after all, that the Monroe Doctrine has nothing to do with the Panama canal scheme, unless "in the judgment of the competent authorities of this government" it is, or becomes, inimical to our interests as a nation, or subversive of any form of government existing on this continent at this time. This it cannot be under the present system, as it is purely a commercial enterprise, uncontrolled by national influence or patronage, the stockholders themselves being of several different nationalities.

Marriage License.

The following marriage license has been issued since our last report: R. P. Tall and Leah C. Rinder, H. A. Bray and Melissa A. Smith, Moses Smith and Frances Howard, S. W. Daugherty and Amanda E. Daniel.

W. F. Walston and M. Celes Brown, Wm. C. Truman and Mary E. Robey.

Letter List.

A list of letters remaining in the post office at Hartford, which if not taken out in thirty days will be sent to the dead letter office: Ashby, D. T., Paulding, Will, Baltz, Col. Wm., Rice, Asberry, Combs, Eliza, (2), Shurice, Lou, Cooper, Lieut. Isaac, Warden, C. T. Carter, James W., Jemery, Sarah, Goff, W., Johnson, Col. O. P., R. P. Rowe, P. M.

For Sale, Household Goods, Stock, &c.

I wish to dispose of 800 bushels of corn, 10,000 pounds of tobacco, 9 head of horses, 2 mules, cows, 1 jack, together with my household and kitchen furniture, farming utensils, including a good two-horse wagon and a good buggy. Also eight stacks of good hay. I will sell any of this property on reasonable terms. I live between the Hartford and Livermore roads six miles east of Livermore. Call at once or address me at Livermore, McLean Co., Ky. 4938. WILLIAM S. JONES.

An Unfortunate Occurrence.

A difficulty occurred at Beaver Dam last Thursday evening between Dr. W. J. Berry and his son-in-law, Mr. W. H. Murrell, which resulted in the shooting of Murrell by Dr. Berry. The shooting was done with a navy pistol—the ball entered the back and lodged in the muscles of the back and shoulder. Drs. Pendleton and Berry, of Hartford, were sent for, who probed the wound, but failed to find the ball. Murrell is doing as well as could be expected. The affair, which is very much regretted by a large number of friends and relatives to both parties, occurred at the residence of Dr. Berry, and we have been unable to learn any of the particulars leading to the difficulty. Dr. Berry came to Hartford that night and surrendered himself to Ben Newton, county judge, and gave bond for trial. We will desire further mention until after the examining trial. On Monday the Doctor waived an examining trial and gave bond in the sum of $500 for his appearance at the next term of the court, which convenes on Monday, Nov. 28th.

Fire in McClean County.

A meat house belonging to Mr. Sam Drake, of Island Station, burned last Sunday night. The fire was caused by ashes being left in a box to make fire. The loss is about $100. Another warning to people to insure their buildings against loss by fire. A few dollars invested in an insurance policy may often be the means of saving a man from distress when the flames destroy all his earthly possessions. There is no friend in such a time as a policy in a good union with a few dollars, but that is all. An insurance policy will set him on his feet in the world, and he will be under obligations to no one. Think the matter over carefully and take out a policy for one, three or five years, with Barrett & Bro., Hartford, Ky. They represent none but the best companies and leave the "wild hog" business to other people who are not solicitous of the welfare of their patrons, but whose sole aim and end is to get the commissions and policy fee. Barrett & Bro. have recently accepted the agency of three reliable and well-known companies in addition to those heretofore held by them.

MASTIFF COMMISSIONER'S DOCKET.

Ohio Circuit Court—November Term, 1881.

The cases referred to me to take proof and report up have been set for the days as shown by the following docket. Parties must have witnesses subpoenaed and be on hands promptly. Will begin each day at 9 o'clock a.m. and continue from day to day until all the proof offered is taken. JOHN P. BARRETT, Master Commissioner. D. H. French, et al., vs. Walter Samuels. Wednesday, Nov. 9. V. K. Williams vs. John P. Cooper. Friday, Nov. 11. John Midkiff vs. J. C. Townsend. Monday, Nov. 14. J. N. Sander vs. Wm. Shown. Thursday, Nov. 17.

A FIRST-CLASS SENSATION.

"There's a Man a Ship 'Twixt the Cup and the Lip." The Old Adage Verified. It is not often that Ohio county furnishes the world with a sensation—a down-right and thorough-going sensation—but when it does you may look for something spicy, something that shall not be forgotten in a day. Blood is usually connected with Ohio county sensations that are worth recording, and those so precious to be drawn at ordinary meals, so we often get to believe that events of note are things of the past except when bad whisky comes into the ring. Even then it is shocked and horrified, for there is nothing enjoyable in the contemplation of a murder instigated by rum or any other agent.

But Kereko! It is here at last and is a good one. Miss M. Celes Brown is a daughter of Mr. John Brown, of this county, and is a winsome of 21 summers and comely to look upon. Many is the youthful heart that beat tumultuously at the bestowal of a glance or a smile of the rustic beauty and her conquests were more than she could count on the tips of her taper fingers.

Her heart was her own through many a siege of love, and every battery of heartfelt and soul-thrilling declarations was ineffectual until Mr. William Walston appeared on the scene when after a little effort on his part she waltzed on into the Eden of love with her William by his side and both keeping time to the music of the angels as played by "two hearts that beat as one," etc. All went well and today was set as the happy one when their dreams of bliss and each other should be realized. He was happy and she was happy, but it is uncertain here below. Walston went home from his last visit and wrote to Dr. W. P. Bennett, of Island Station, to be on hand Wednesday to tie the knot. But now a third party appears, in the person of Mr. J. J. Grundy, of Island Station, who went to the destined bride with the old, old story, and she, doubting her William, accepted the proffered love of Mr. Grundy, who was a widower, and he, with all a widower's craft, determined not to let the bird escape, so they set last Sunday as the day for the wedding. On the day that Mr. Grundy proposed Miss Brown wrote to Walston telling him that he need not come. He was thunderstruck, and the next day, which was Saturday last, went over to see her. He found the story true, as Mr. Grundy and the girl's father were then on their way to Hartford for the license. Nothing daunted, he renewed his suit and prevailed with her to change her mind. The two absent ones returned, when to Grundy's grief the girl informed him that she had returned to her first love. Entrances were vain. She still loved William and would cling to him. But how about the license and the fine suit of clothes Mr. Grundy had purchased? "Mr. Walston," said he, "you have beaten me. Let me sell out to you." "Agreed," said Walston, and he took the clothes and paid up for all except the license, which didn't fit. Grundy then started for his Island Station home and Walston and Mr. Brown for Hartford to the same errand that had brought Grundy a few hours before. The license was procured at 10 o'clock Saturday night, and at 3 p. m. Sunday the two were made as one flesh.

South Carrollton Notes.

November 7, 1881. Mr. William Walston, of this town, was married to Miss Cella Brown, of Ohio county, last Sunday. I think the above wedding is only an introduction, as several others will occur. Quite a number of buildings are now being repaired and some new ones are being erected. Rev. R. P. Standler is now conducting a series of meetings at Sugar Grove church, near Massillon, Daviess county, Ky. Mr. C. Chevis, of Louisville, had an appointment to lecture here last Wednesday evening, but failed to reach here until the next day. It is to be regretted that both he and the citizens were disappointed. Rev. F. M. Sharp is from home conducting a revival at Hazel creek church. Mr. W. W. Williams has aroused the people at Bethlehem church to a proper consideration of their religious condition, as I judge from the result. While the Creator did not bless this ten or five feet thick, yet He did not fail to locate quite a quantity of fine stone work. The contractor on the bridge across the Ohio river at Henderson has visited this place with the view of putting about three hundred hands to work getting out stone. This, like other public works, will necessarily bring some extra money to this community. I am informed by the Superintendent of the O. & N. R. that hands are now at work on the above-named road between Owensboro Junction, with the view of completing it through to Russell. Certainly nothing could happen that would be more gratifying to the people here, and in fact, all along the line. The road is now doing a good business and will certainly prove to be a profitable one when completed.

McHenry Music.

November 5, 1881. We had a stinging frost night before last, and the consequence is everything wears a wintry appearance. The Hamilton mines are running on full time now, and they are capacitated to hold a great amount of coal daily. The McHenry men are still out, the company refusing to advance to 90 cents per ton, claiming that with their present contracts they would not be justified in so doing. I am unable to say how it will terminate, as both parties seem to be in a determined spirit. On last Sunday, Bishop McCloskey, of the Catholic church, delivered a discourse to a large and attentive audience in Hamilton. Twenty converts to the Catholic faith, were also confirmed by him on the same occasion. The residence of Mr. George Rinder was the scene of a quiet wedding on Thursday last, the contracting parties being his daughter, Miss Lela, and Mr. Richard Tall, both of McHenry. Attendants: Miss Sallie Rinder and Mr. Thomas Engler. The happy couple left yesterday morning on a visit to friends and relatives in Muhlenberg county. That is, a real one, but the bride led through pleasant places, and the rose hue of the present is deepened in the future of the wish.

I have been informed that Mr. Wm. Hamilton intends to move shortly to West Virginia. This will occasion much regret among the people of the two adjoining places, as the long residence of his amiable family among them has endeared them to all. The good influence of Mr. Hamilton will be much missed, as ever since he took up his residence here he has been identified with every movement looking to the interests of the church, the Sabbath school and temperance, and there is no house but feels his influence for good. But since he deems it best to go we wish him God speed on his journey and prosperity on its termination.

Center town Crippings.

Editor Herald: I would write oftener, but have been suffering from an attack of the blues. The long continued beautiful fall weather has been lost to us in a wintery squall. The wheat crop, which never looked better at this season, is about all sown. There is a much larger quantity sown this season in this part of the county than ever before. Sorghum making is still on hand, and is likely to be for some time yet. Mrs. W. Phillips Lowe is thought at this time to be recovering. She is spending the last two or three weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Cass Morton.

Nothing would give more universal pleasure than would her complete recovery. Mrs. Dorcas Ticeford is also very much improved. She too has been visiting friends in the neighborhood. J. Rains Wade has been visiting sick nearly two weeks, but is improving, soon.

Uncle Buck and Aunt Garner Wade have been visiting their daughter, Mrs. P. M. Robertson, near Rockport, this week. Miss Sallie Garrett, of Centerville, made a flying visit to this place Sunday evening, returning Monday morning last. Uncle Geo. Rowe and wife have just returned from an extended trip to relatives in Butler county. He was shown through the fine farms of the four Rinder boys. They have from two hundred to three hundred acres in cultivation of the finest farming lands to be found in the Green River country. Their improvements, including residences and everything pertaining to the farms, were of the best and most modern style. The most attractive feature about this land is the little attention required to keep them up, so little preparation before commencing a crop. They require nearly two years' absence, engaged in preparing the ground for planting. Mr. Joshua Rinder had this year seventy acres in corn of the very best quality. He expects next year to plant one hundred acres.

Mr. — of Centerville, passed by this place again a few days ago on his way to Greenville. To those acquainted with the topography of the route this would seem a strange way of traveling. The spectacle man, W. A. Perkins, returned home on Saturday, the 4th inst., from an extensive trip through this and adjoining counties. The celebrated chimney builder Wm. Jones, returned some time since after nearly two years' absence, engaged in his chosen occupation. He has recently built a chimney for Mr. B. F. Calvert.

Our young friend, Albert C. Patterson, contemplating starting to Louisville to attend Commercial School. No doubt a bright future is in waiting for Albert for he is well calculated to accomplish almost any object to which he turns his attention. The saw and grist mill located for a long time at Hogg's Falls, is being moved to this place and will in the near future be erected here. An enterprise we certainly have needed for some time.

Mrs. White, and her daughter Studie, and her son-in-law, Lute James and family, were visiting her son, Polk, near Beaver Dam, last week.

Rev. Mr. Hunter, the new minister in charge, filled his first appointment here last night. He was honored with a respectable audience and made a good impression. He gave us an able discourse on the goodness and perfection of the law of God.

Miss Selastine Brown and Mr. W. F. Walston were quietly married yesterday, Sunday, at the residence of the bride's father, John Brown. Rev. Dr. Bennett officiating.

The wide-awake saw log men, Sam and Cass Morton, have finished hauling a large lot, five or six hundred logs, on Pond River, in Muhlenberg county, and drove their team home. They are now ready to begin another job somewhere else.

Union County Greeting.

MORGANFIELD, KY., Nov. 8, 1881. Editor Herald: A big rain is the order of the day just now. Mr. Sam Bennett, E. G. Rowe and wife, of Centerville, are visiting the family of Geo. M. Rowe, of this place. Mr. C. C. Harris, who has been sick for a few days, is up and doing. Mr. J. H. Fink, of Evansville, is Mr. Lucien D. #### PERSONAL.

Mr. R. P. Rowe is out again.
Mr. R. T. Her's son and daughter are improving.
Mrs. Wm. Hardwick returned from a visit to Vine Grove yesterday.
W. H. Barnes, Esq., of Caneyville, was in town several days last week.
Miss Mollie Hayden is quite sick with fever, but at this writing is some better.
Mr. J. E. Rowe and wife, who have been quite sick for two weeks past, are improving.
We had a call from Mrs. Sarah Wallace, widow of Tolbert Wallace, deceased, last Tuesday.
Mr. S. R. Dent, of the firm of Chick & Dent, Louisville, was in town a day or two this week.
Mrs. Rebecca Stuart, of Paradise, is visiting her daughter, Miss Lizzie Morton, primary teacher of Hartford College.
Mrs. Henry Small, of this place, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Einstein of New York. She will remain during the winter.
Judge R. S. Moseley left Monday evening for Atlanta, Ga., to attend the cotton exposition. He will be absent some time.
Thos. R. Queen, Esq., of Owensboro, representing Geo. D. Mattingly & Co., wholesale whiskey dealers, was in town a day or two last week.
Mrs. M. A. Thomas, Mrs. James H. Martin and daughter, Miss Ella, returned from a visit to Owensboro last Friday. They were accompanied on their return home by Mrs. W. H. Owen and son, Ellis.
Chas. Willotte, Esq., representing the wholesale grocery house of R. McJohnston & Co., Owensboro, made his usual trip to this place last Friday and Saturday.
Mrs. Ella Gilpatrick, of Boston, Mass., who has been visiting the family of her cousin, Mr. G. B. Williams, returned home yesterday. She was accompanied by her uncle, Mr. W. H. Williams, as far as Owensboro.
Mr. W. J. Norris and family have moved to town and are occupying a portion of Mr. R. A. Patton's dwelling. Mr. Norris has bought the building of W. C. Morton occupied by Jas. A. Carter as a saloon. He will occupy it as a saloon and residence in a few days.
Miss J. McDaniel and daughter, Miss Sallie, left on Monday evening for Canaan, Hart Co., their new home. Bro. McDaniel has been on the Hartford circuit for two years, and it is with regret to the citizens of town as well as the whole circuit that they leave us. He is an earnest worker in the cause of Christ, and we commend him to the people of that circuit.

A fine lot of prints at Hill's new store.

A nice line of coverlets in wool and cotton at Anderson's Bazaar.

Judge C. J. Lawton is erecting a frame cottage on the corner of his lot opposite Mrs. Jarboe's.

Fresh live fish of all kinds in Hartford every Saturday, in front of R. C. Hardwick's store. Wm. Ross.

Baker's Pain Panacea cures pain in man and beast. For use externally and internally. 7-9-ly

Dr. Roger's Vegetable Worm Syrup instantly destroys worms and removes the secretions which cause them. 9-ly

Mr. J. P. Sanderfur has just completed his new dwelling house on Union street. It is quite a neat looking building.

"Lindsey's Blood Saver"—the great medicine for fever and ague, malaria, and all blood poisons. Don't fail to use it.

It is simply marvelous how quickly constipation, biliousness, sick headache, fever and ague, and malaria, are cured by "Sellers' Liver Pills."

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is a really remarkable and time-honored medicine. It is the best known remedy for all diseases of the throat and lungs.

"What every one says must be true," that "Dr. Seller's Cough Syrup" has no equal for coughs and colds. Try it. Price 25 cents. 1m.

"The doctors said my wife had consumption. Fried 'Lindsey's Blood Saver,' and she has better health than ever." G. H. Hubbard, Hampden, Ohio. 1m.

"Ball's Digestive Salt (patented) is a combination of Pure Pepsin and best English Salt, invaluable to all those who suffer from dyspeptic tendencies, of which it is the only certain cure. See advertisement. 1m.

We have much pleasure in recommending Thermoline to our readers as an absolute cure for malaria. The manufacturer's name alone is a guarantee of its merit. It sells at 25 cents per box. For particulars see advertisement. For sale by Thomas & Kimbley, Hartford, Ky. 1f

The medicines of Dundas Dick & Co. are unequalled for elegance, purity, and reliability. Their Seidlitz Salts, Seidlitz Powders are as pleasant as lemonade. Their soft capsules are world famous. See advertisement. For sale by Thomas & Kimbley, druggists, Hartford, Ky. 1f

Andrew Williams and E. R. Ashby are sole agents for Kentucky for the Harris & Smith Self-extinguishing Non-explosive Safety Lamp. Andrew Williams will canvass the eastern portion and E. R. Ashby the western portion of the State. For territory or county rights address them at Hartford, Ky. 22f

When thinking of visiting Louisville there should be one thing made up in your mind, and that is that you will stop at the Standford Hotel. Everything is new and nice about the house, and is kept in the best of order. No better table is set anywhere; no better and more polite attendants can be found anywhere, and the fare is only $2 per day. Be sure to go to the Standford.

"Truth shames the devil!" and the motto of J. Winter & Co., corner of Third and Market streets, Louisville, Ky., is: Never lie in order to sell goods. People have found this out and they all go to this popular establishment to buy their men's and boys' and children's clothing for fall and winter. This is the right place to invest your money, we assure you.

Rev. R. D. Westerfield has just closed a protracted prayer meeting of two weeks' duration in the neighborhood of Macedonia church, near Hines' Mills, this county, resulting in six conversions. Dr. Isaac Westerfield being among the number. On Sunday, October 30th, Rev. Mr. Westerfield baptized Dr. Isaac Westerfield, his wife, son and daughter; and his own wife and son-in-law.

Ex-Sheriff C. W. Phillips sold several tracts of land last Monday for taxes.

A big stock of Cate's goods will be received this week at Anderson's Bazaar.

Are you troubled with rheumatism? Use Kendall's Spavin Cure. Read advertisement.

A stepson of Obed Liles, who lives near Horton, died last Sunday night of membranous croup. His age was about eleven years.

Mr. J. M. Kline is erecting a dwelling house on the lot lying between the residences of Mr. W. C. Morton and Mrs. Alice Kimbley.

Monday was County Court day, and a large number of the suits from the rural districts were in. The usual amount of horse-swapping was done.

Jockey street presented quite a lively appearance last Monday. Numbers of old plugs changed hands, with occasionally a better piece of horseflesh passing under the hammer, exchanging, etc.

Rev. R. D. Westerfield, assisted by Rev. Mr. Jarboe, of Hawesville, will begin a protracted meeting at Macedonia church, near Hines' Mills, on Thursday night before the third Sunday in November.

There is no doubt but Steven's shoes are the best goods for the money ever offered in Hartford. This is the verdict of every person that has ever used them. Anderson's Bazaar has just received a big stock of them.

Sufferers from Dyspepsia, Indigestion, etc., have only to use Ball's Digestive Salt at table instead of ordinary salt, to be freed from all such tendencies, and to enjoy their food. 25 cents will get it. See advertisement. 1m.

Died, at the residence of her son-in-law, J. D. Duke, on Thursday Nov. 3, 1881, of consumption, Mrs. America Thompson. Her funeral was preached at Wesley Chapel on Sunday morning by Rev. G. J. Bean, after which her remains were interred in Woodward graveyard near R. A. Rowan's.

John Stein, Esq., City Brewer, referring to its qualities, said to a News representative: I have used St. Jacob's Oil in my family and recommend it to my acquaintances. It has always given me the best satisfaction, and is truly a wonderful remedy.—Danville (Ill.) News.

Rev. Nelson Ball was not a Methodist preacher, as stated in the Breckenridge News and the Herald some time ago, but a Baptist minister, and at the time he left the country was a member of Friendship church, in Hancock county. Nothing has been heard of the reverend fraud since his exodus.

Mr. B. M. Bennett, of Beda, has a service tree which has the second crop of services on it. In proof of this he has sent us a bunch of them which are grown and about ripe. We have heard of other similar circumstances, but none of them have sent us a sample of the fruit except Mr. Bennett.

C. W. Phillips, ex-Sheriff, sold a good quantity of land for taxes last Monday. The remainder of the land unsold will be advertised and sold on the 28th day of November, which will be the first day of Circuit Court. The advertisement of the remainder of the land will appear in the next issue of the Herald.

A fire occurred at Goff's Crossing last Sunday consuming a storehouse belonging to J. W. Bratcher, worth about $500, and a stock of goods in it belonging to H. Clay Fields, supposed to be worth $900. It is supposed that the fire was communicated by sparks from a passing train. There was no insurance on either house or stock that we could learn of. Why is it that men will take their own risks when they can be protected so cheaply. These parties should have had insurance policies issued by Barrett & Bro., Hartford, Ky., who represent none but good companies and do their work in such a manner as to stand the test and protect the assured against accidental loss by fire. If you have not already done so call on them and be insured at once.

Sickness is abating in town.

Go to Tracy's for best horse-shoeing.

Canned goods as cheap as the cheapest at Thomas Bros.

Tracy guarantees that his shoeing is the best in town.

A nice line of turbans for boys and girls at Anderson's Bazaar.

Have you a lame horse? Call for Kendall's Spavin Cure. Read advertisement.

Soft calf shoes made expressly for old ladies and for sale at Anderson's Bazaar.

Remember that Tracy does "all kinds of blacksmithing and wagon-work."

A big lot of rubber overshoes just received and for sale at Anderson's Bazaar.

The highest price paid for butter, eggs, fowls, beef hides and sheep skins at Thomas Bros.

J. W. Ford, the popular druggist, has made a nice addition to the shelving-room of his drug store.

The best strengthener of mind and body is Brown's Iron Bitters. It is very soothing and refreshing in its effect.

Mr. Sam Wedding, an old citizen of this county, died last Saturday at his home near Fordville of typhoid fever. He leaves a large family.

Married, at the residence of John Brown, Esq., near Point Pleasant, by Rev. Dr. W. P. Bennett, Mr. W. F. Walton and Miss M. Celes Brown.

Thanks to Mr. Luther Duke, proprietor of the Duke House, Rockport, Ky., for courtesies extended while there last Saturday. This is a hotel where guests fare well.

Property not worth insuring against loss by fire is not worth owning. Insure with Barrett & Bro., Hartford, Ky., who represent six of the best fire insurance companies extant.

Bill Midkiff, of color, who was sent to the penitentiary at the last fall term of the Circuit Court, put in his appearance last Saturday. He was relieved of about fifty days of his time.

We visited Rockport Saturday and was really surprised to find the merchants there doing such a thriving business. Messrs. Bentley & Co. and James & Co. were as busy as bees in spring-time.

It is impossible for a woman, after a faithful course of treatment with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, to continue to suffer with a weakness of the uterus. Enclose a stamp to Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, 233 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass., for her pamphlets.

A lady remarked she "could not do anything she wished and was freed from any distress after eating," by merely using Ball's Digestive Salt at meals, instead of ordinary table salt. 25 cents will get it. See advertisement.

They told a good one on Mr. G. W. Ringer, the boss auctioneer. He was selling a horse last Monday and $10.50 was bid on it. Some fellow put in a bid of $8.30 and Mr. Ringer took the cue at that figure and the horse was sold at $9.60. Neither Mr. Ringer or the owner of the horse detected the mistake.

We have received a communication from a Beaver Dam friend who forgot to sign his name. In addition to violating our rule, which in itself is fearful, he defrauded the government out of two cents by sending a written letter in an unsealed envelope with a one cent stamp on it. Anonymous communications can meet but one fate, and that is to disappear forever.

Mrs. Mary Martin, of Harrisburg, Pa., says: "I suffered severely from a complication of female diseases; that sense of bearing down seemed as if it would kill me; my habits were very irregular; nothing seemed to benefit me until I tried Brown's Iron Bitters. They acted like a charm, and now I enjoy perfect health."

Mr. Z. A. Rozenberg, who has been in business here at different times for several years past, has rented the brick store house formerly owned by J. B. Wells and occupied by Mrs. R. J. Morris as a millinery shop, and will open a dry goods and clothing store in a few days.

Akron, Ohio, May 7th, 1880.—Some three years ago I had a horse bled it with Kendall's Spavin Cure with marked success. Since then I have sold a great many bottles, and have heard of cures resulting from its use. I am frank to say I can cheerfully recommend it as an honest remedy. Yours truly, A. M. ARMSTRONG.

A fire insurance policy is of little value in case of a loss unless the company is solvent and the policy so issued as to protect the insured. We have had an experience of nine years in the business and know just how to do the work. Insure with us and be safe. BARRETT & BRO., Hartford, Ky.

The charge against Van May for poisoning his wife, or in some way causing her death, (mention of which was made in this paper at the time) came up before Judge O'Flaherty, Police Judge of Hartford, for investigation. After consultation, County Attorney J. P. Sanderfur, dismissed the case, there being no proof against May, and not a single circumstance that could be construed to show him otherwise than innocent of the charge.

The new mail messenger on the P. & E. R. R. had better be a little more careful with the mail, for this place in particular. Yesterday again, as frequently heretofore, a part of the Eastern mail for Hartford was carried on down the road and a lot of mail for other places sent here. There is no excuse for this, and it ought to be, and must be stopped. We understand that G. M. D. Sumner was the down messenger yesterday, and we hereby call his attention, as well as that of the proper authorities, to the fact that we intend to keep talking about this matter until it is stopped. There is no reasonable excuse for the continuation of this blunder.

The Claytonians met as usual on Friday night. A full attendance and much interest manifested. Subject for debate, "Resolved, That conscience is a true moral guide." The speeches of Jas. B. Horn and Jas. A. Smith on the affirmative were very logical and well received, but they were not sufficient to overcome the sledge-hammer arguments of Messrs. Render, Hackett and others on the negative.

Subject for next Friday night, "Resolved, That the love of country is a greater incentive to action than the love of money." A lively time is expected.

When are the young ladies of College going to organize their society? The Claytonians have been waiting for this important action for some time. It is hoped that there will be no failure in this matter. We will see.

This is a wonderful age. The time has now come when four persons constitute a solo in music.

The students have proposed among themselves to see Prof. Alexander in regard to this matter. When they graduate at our College here, will they be entitled to A. M. A. B.

The class in English literature is one of the main features of the college. Something grand is expected from them in June.

Mrs. Stuart, mother of Miss Lizzie Morton, of Primary Department, visited the College on Thursday last. Mrs. Stuart is a pleasant and excellent lady.

Miss Katie Hendrick is called superb in the Intermediate Department.

Prof. Bennett is moving things in his department. It takes double extra work to score ten in his room. He is the right man in the right place.

The reports were read last Monday week. Some of the boys scored low. Those fellows that hover around 2 and 3 had better move up or emigrate to a more congenial climate.

Born to the wife of B. P. Petty, October 10th, 1881, a daughter, Laura Belle.

S. W. Kirby, who was severely hurt by a falling limb some three weeks ago near Hall's mill, is recovering.

Found—A pocketbook containing some money. Owner can get it by describing same. W. H. Newcomb.

The weather Sunday evening was beautiful, and was taken advantage of by the many lovers of Nature in town. Walking and driving were both indulged in to a considerable extent.

Several new lamps have been placed on the street recently, one in front of Anderson's Bazaar, one in front of the Hartford House, and one in front of Thomas Bros. store.

Lost—In Hartford, Sunday evening, Nov. 6, 1881, a pocket-book containing one twenty and two five dollar bills; also, some valuable papers. The finder will please return the same to the Herald office, or to J. A. ROWE.

The tiling for the sewer from the Courthouse and jail to Rough Creek has arrived, and the work of laying it will begin at once. The sanitary condition of portions of the town will doubtless be greatly improved.

Cards are out for the marriage to-day, at the residence of Jno. L. Robey, Esq., near Fordville, by the Rev. R. T. Bruner, of Mr. W. C. Truman and Miss Mary E. Robey. The happy pair will accept our heartiest good wishes for their future happiness.

Report has been circulated to the effect that J. A. Cox had taken one horse and buggy for three hundred dollars, in Sparta, Ill. I have learned no such information and have never told any one anything that would lead to such a report.

D. L. SMITH, Sheriff of Ohio Co.

An injunction against the manufacture of the Morton Heel Brace has been issued, and the case is now pending in the United States Court at Covington, Ky. The firm of Perin & Gaff, manufacturers, of Cincinnati, in consideration of one-half interest in the patent have undertaken to defend the suit and damages. Mr. Morton is sanguine of gaining the case, and thinks that the suit is a game of bluff.

The cases of the Commonwealth against Frank L. Smith and P. D. Taylor for gaming, and Henry Pace for allowing gaming on his premises, came up before his honor, Judge Newton, last Saturday, and resulted as follows: Frank Smith confessed judgment and was fined $10. P. D. Taylor was fined $10, and Henry Pace was held to answer at the next term of the Ohio Circuit, which convenes on Monday the 28th day of this month. He gave bond for his appearance.

Lost—About three weeks ago, a large-sized Shepherd dog, color that of a red fox, except considerably darker, fox ears, stripe running down from throat to fore legs, bushy tail, same color as body, had a cut in upper lip at time of leaving. A reward of $10 will be given for his return to the Hartford Water Mills within ten days. Any information in regard to said dog will be thankfully received. The above described dog is the Shepherd dog, which has been at the Water Mill for about two years. It is about three or four years old.

JOHN R. & WM. PHIPPS, 45ft.

Some days ago, three boys, James Hogan, Ben Atkins and Rufus Atkins, stopped Mr. Sam Taylor on the road and demanded his money. They seemed rather determined, and Mr. Taylor came down to the extent of his bank account, which was one dollar and may be a few cents in change.

The boys went on their way and so did Mr. Taylor, under the impression that he was the victim of a highway robbery. The next morning the boys returned the money with the assurance that it was all a joke, but they were nevertheless, arrested and held for trial for robbery. They gave bond for their appearance, and their examination trial will be had next Saturday. Joking is a nice thing, but when carried thus far is not pleasant even to the jokers.

For Sale. Three yoke of oxen, one odd oxen, and a log wagon, on reasonable terms. JOHN H. BAKER, Ceralvo, Ky. 45.2w.

Oxen and Wagon For Sale. I have four yoke of oxen and a log wagon, 5 inches on the tread, which I will sell at reasonable prices. Any one wishing to purchase will do well to call at once on L. P. DOWNS, Ceralvo, Ky. 40.1f.

For Sale. A two-horse spring wagon and harness. For particulars call on J. P. Barrett, Herald office, Hartford, Ky. 45.2w.

For Sale. Three top buggies and harness, two spring wagons and harness. Will sell cheap for cash, or will sell on four month's time, purchaser giving approved security, or will take hay or corn in exchange.

Liberal Reward! Will be paid for the return of a stray cow, unmarked, red, with white on belly and flanks, horns slender and slightly turned up. J. T. CAITHER, Rockport, Ky. 45.3t.

College Notes. The Claytonians met as usual on Friday night. A full attendance and much interest manifested. Subject for debate, "Resolved, That conscience is a true moral guide." The speeches of Jas. B. Horn and Jas. A. Smith on the affirmative were very logical and well received, but they were not sufficient to overcome the sledge-hammer arguments of Messrs. Render, Hackett and others on the negative.

Subject for next Friday night, "Resolved, That the love of country is a greater incentive to action than the love of money." A lively time is expected.

When are the young ladies of College going to organize their society? The Claytonians have been waiting for this important action for some time. It is hoped that there will be no failure in this matter. We will see.

This is a wonderful age. The time has now come when four persons constitute a solo in music.

The students have proposed among themselves to see Prof. Alexander in regard to this matter. When they graduate at our College here, will they be entitled to A. M. A. B.

The class in English literature is one of the main features of the college. Something grand is expected from them in June.

Mrs. Stuart, mother of Miss Lizzie Morton, of Primary Department, visited the College on Thursday last. Mrs. Stuart is a pleasant and excellent lady.

Miss Katie Hendrick is called superb in the Intermediate Department.

Prof. Bennett is moving things in his department. It takes double extra work to score ten in his room. He is the right man in the right place.

The reports were read last Monday week. Some of the boys scored low. Those fellows that hover around 2 and 3 had better move up or emigrate to a more congenial climate.

Sixteen pupils attending the Art Department. Miss L. Jay Box is a splendid teacher, as her work shows. Her affable manners, good sense and industry have secured for her a host of admiring friends among all the students.

Messrs. G. W. Milligan and Eldred Miller visited their parents near Pellville on last Saturday week. There are no better students in college than these two young men.

Prof. James S. Glenn, the able and efficient teacher of Greek and Latin, delivered a lecture at Morton's Gap, Hopkins county, on the evening of the 4th inst.

208 students now in attendance, and every thing is moving along most happily and harmoniously. The zeal, earnestness and energy of the teachers, coupled with the industry and determination of the students, have produced the most successful and happy results in the college.

Dr. Pendleton is a grand success in physiology, hygiene and anatomy. No more suitable gentleman could be found for this position.

Possum Knob Notes.

November 4, 1887.

Editor Herald: It now turns out that the crops are not as good as the farmers a few weeks ago expected. Corn will make about one-half a crop and tobacco about two-thirds.

The health of the Knob is very good now with the exception of a few cases of scarlet fever, which have been of a very mild form.

The wife of Dr. J. W. Meador is very low with consumption.

An infant child of J. M. Bowling is in a very dangerous condition from convulsions. It had thirty-six in one night.

Mr. T. B. Marlow, a very old and highly respected citizen of this vicinity, came near dying last week of cramping.

An infant child of Charles Carter died last week of summer complaint.

Mr. George F. Robey died on the 22nd ult., of consumption. He will be very greatly missed in the community.

Success to the Herald and its editors.

CHANCE.

Liquid or Dry.

Some people prefer to purchase medicines in the dry state so that they can see for themselves that they are purely vegetable. Others have not the time or desire to prepare the medicine, and wish it all ready to use.

To accommodate each class the proprietors of Kidney-Wort now offer that well-known remedy in both liquid and dry forms.

Sold by druggists everywhere.—Truth.

Caneyville Items.

Editor Herald: Caneyville is improving. Another business house has been opened up here recently. The new firm is under the name of Wilson & Duggins.

Hardin Wilson and J. R. Duggins have brought on a nice lot of fancy groceries, notions and hardware.

Location, Wilson's old stand, on the corner of Main street. Mr. Duggins has taken charge of the house.

Mr. Morg. Cummins, the clerk at Layman's store, left a few days since for Owensboro. We regret his departure, but wish him great success.

Miss Sadie Porter has gone to Hardinsburg to spend a few weeks with friends and relatives. How sad Bob looks since her departure.

Miss Viola Whittinghill, of Breckinridge county, is in town visiting her sister, Mrs. Lina Brandon.

Miss Amelia Chambliss, who has been spending several weeks with her sister in Louisville, passed through here yesterday en route to her home in Breckinridge county.

Prof. Board and wife have returned from a few days' visit to their former home, where they attended the funeral of Rev. Jesse Board, the father of the Professor.

Mr. J. B. Patterson and family, of Ohio county, took the train here last Monday for Texas, where they expect to make their future home.

Mr. Editor, I will inform you of the very first wedding we have here. Prospects are gloomy now, though some people may conclude to marry before many more weeks wane.

Where is Lizzie? Would love to hear from her again.

ARTHURIA.

Flashes of Fashion.

Pale blondes cannot wear gray. Linen cuffs are things of the past. Jet tangles remain in high fashion.

Puffs in the arm-hole are occasionally seen. Very long pile plush is much used in millinery.

Feather turbans are revived to a limited extent. Derby felt bid fair to remain a permanent fashion.

New Derbies have low crowns and no roll to the brim. Untrimmed striped skirts will continue to be much worn.

All sorts of Rhine crystal ornaments are in high favor. Ombre (shaded) stockings come in all the new colors.

Hunting jackets in new forms continue to be fashionable. The hair is dressed close, flat, and with very little fluffiness.

Wreaths of roses and other flowers are revived for ball coffers. Spanish lace, both black and white, is as much the rage as ever.

Cuffs are made very deep, reaching sometimes almost to the elbow. All kinds of laces are fashionable, but Spanish lace takes the lead.

No actual Fanchon bonnets have as yet appeared among new shapes. Yokes and collars simulating yokes appear on many imported costumes.

Granite cloth is one of the handsomest fabrics shown for suitings. Coronet bands and combs set with Rhine crystal will be much worn.

Floral garnitures and diadem wreaths are in demand for ball toilets. Many large pokes are trimmed with a wreath of flowers within the brim.

Cheviots in the new heather mixtures are seen both bordered and plain. Velvet, plush and fur bands will all be used for trimming midwinter suits.

The majority of bonnets have very wide strings, but some have narrow ones. In mercantile invoices, all large bonnets are classed as pokes, small ones cottages.

Moire will be much used in combination with cashmere and other woollen stuffs. Velvet, plush, and novelty ribbons are used to make hanging pockets or reticules that can be worn with any dress.

Over-dresses and all draperies are looped high, giving the pouter effect around the hips, and the rooster tail of feet in the back.

Among other fashionable pendant ornaments for rooms are quaint, old-shaped little baskets of split bamboo—Japanese, of course.

Wall papers are brought out in imitation of tapestries, including even the famous Gobelins, which are admirably imitated.

Large, very large bonnets are the most fashionable, but medium sizes and cottage and turban shapes continue in vogue.

Neck-kerechiefs of fowered and Surah have lace borders applied on with gold thread chain-stitch embroidery, including floral designs.

New stockings come in heather mixtures, in stripes hair-lined with gold threads, and also plain in new and fashionable colors.

Lace is used to an enormous extent in trimming all sorts of winter garments—dresses, wraps, flasks for house wear, basques and jackets.

Buckles, clasps, slides and all sorts of ornaments in abalone or compressed mother-of-pearl, jet, silver and Rhine crystal, silver, steel and gilt will be much worn.

The new woollen goods, striped with lines of plush, make very accessory parts—cuffs, collars, revers, pockets and bands for plain, self-colored all-wool suits.

A fashionable bride is now attended to the altar by from eight to twelve bridesmaids, half of whom are little girls in short dresses, the other half young ladies in society.

New velvet and plush brocades on satin grounds derive their shaded effects in the flowers and figures from cut and uncut pile, and from graded lengths of the piles, also from embossing or pressing.

Japanese lanterns of all styles and qualities, from simple paper to elegant silk and colored glass one, are hung in the nooks and corners of the halls, drawingrooms and boudoirs of all fashionable houses.

Among other millinery novelties is a felt hat, with a deep brim and square crown, called the accordion crown.

This consists of a four-cornered piece, stiffly lined, and resting upon folds of velvet or plush, which give the accordion effect.

Here is a good way to make an old dress almost as good as new: Get enough new striped or plaid novelty material, the gayer the better, and be sure to select one with metallic threads and add this to the material of your old dress, if of plain stuff, in the way of cuffs, collars, revers, pockets, bands and looks; or, if the old material is striped or plaid, get plush of an inexpensive quality, and of such a color as will harmonize or harmoniously contrast with the old plaid or stripes.

Here are some of the hat ornaments of the season—shirps of colored metal, tiny silver and gold mice, corks' heads, or the entire bird in colored metal, enamel, and feathers of the Turkey vulture, metal and bone wove's heads, with the mouth wide open, showing the red tongue and sharp white teeth; daggers and pistols of gold, silver and other metals, sometimes adorned with jewels, gilt and silver snails, bears' tusks capped with gold at the base, turtles, octopuses, lobsters and crabs in enamel and gilt, and spiders or jets of malachite, and of imitation opal, with gilt claws.

We are indebted to Messrs. Ehrlich Bros., of New York, for the above notes on the fashions for the coming winter season, extracted from advance sheets of their magazine, the Fashion Quarterly.

The holiday number of this popular ladies' journal is to be issued very shortly, and promises to be the best that has appeared for sometime. It will contain, besides the usual notice of the winter fashions, an unusually full account of all the latest novelties, in the way of Christmas presents for old and young. Most of our readers know the Fashion Quarterly of old, and have learned its value as a guide in all that appertains to "shopping." To those to whom it is still a stranger we would simply say that it is the best and most authoritative purchaser's manual published, and is likely to be of special use at this season, when all the world is beginning to think of the good Christmas time, and want to know what they shall give, where they can get it, and how much they ought properly to pay for it. The publishers are Ehrlich Bros., of Eighth Avenue, New York, and the price is only 50 cents per year of four numbers.

Well as Can Be Expected.

Lady Chelsea Ware, a white vice— "Yes, it is quite too distinctly tender. Yesterday it knocked against a bathy modern plate—and clipped!"

Chorus of aesthetes—"Quite too preciously terrible!"

Lady C.—"I treated it with diamond cement, and, heart-throbbingly, watched by its side all night. To-day—today—it is as well as could be expected!"—London Fun.

BEE-SWAS AS A FEE.

Many of the first settlers of Illinois were rude in speech and rough in manner. Money was scarce with them, and service was paid for in produce. Governor R— used to illustrate these incidents of frontier life by the following anecdote:

One day there came to his office a young man accompanied by a young woman.

"Be you the squire?" asked the manly youth.

"Yes, sir."

"How much do you charge?"

"One dollar is the legal fee, sir."

"Will you take your pay in beeswax?"

"Yes, if you can't pay cash."

"Well, go ahead and tie the knot, and I'll fetch the wax."

"No," said the squire, thinking there was a good chance for a little fun; "bring in the beeswax first, and then I'll marry you."

Retorted only the youth went out to where was hitched the horse, upon which, Doby and Joan fashion, they had ridden, and brought the wax in a sack. On being weighed, its value was found to be only sixty cents.

"Well," said the anxious groom, "the knot and I'll fetch more wax next week."

"No, sir, I don't trust that is against the rules of the office."

Slowly the disappointed youth turned to go, saying, "Good-bye, Sally's son."

"I say, mister," answered Sally, with a woman's wit, "can't you marry us as far as the wax will go?"

"Yes, I can and will," replied the squire, laughing, and he did. Youth's Companion.

CONSTANCY.

How a Chicago Girl Found Her Love A Romantic Tale.

"Do you love Birdie now as much as you did last Thursday?"

It was a beautiful girl who spoke these words, as she leaned her head trustfully on the shoulder of a young man, whose strong right arm encircled her corset.

"Your heart must tell you that I do, my sweet," he murmured, folding her closely to his breast.

Juliet Maffray and George Williamson had eloped their troth months ago in the festive Christmas time, when the earth was wrapped in a mantle of snowy winteriness and the moon looked down, cold and beautiful, on the thronged oyster saloon. It was now September. The snow had given way to the violet and the oysters to the ice cream.

But Juliet's love never wavered. She had for George a claim but intense affection that buried all else in its wondrous depths. "A true woman never loves but once, and you are my idol," she had said to him one night after he told her his love was coming loose. From that moment each understood the other perfectly.

"But, George, dear," said the girl again, "if you love me with a really truly love, kiss me again."

A shudder passed over the young man's frame and he changed the subject of conversation. But the girl would not listen. "You must kiss me," she said, "or you do not love me."

Turning ghastly pale in the dim half-light of the turn-down gas, he averted his head, and said in a low, choked voice: "I cannot kiss you."

"Cannot?" shrieked the girl in an agony of grief, clinging to him with the energy of despair, while a deathly pallor overspread her cheek. "Tell me, George, tell me truly, what has come between us?"

For an instant there was silence, and then George Williamson said in low, bitter tones, every word falling upon Juliet's waiting ears with terrible distinctness: "I'm chewing plug tobacco."

Two minutes after Juliet came into the room kicking something along the floor in front of her.

It was a euphoric.

She had proven her love. Chicago Tribune.
